COVID-19 PANDEMIC

The COVID-19 pandemic emerged as an unprecedented challenge to the health, economy and employment. It affected daily life and has a devastating impact on education, trade and transportation. Due to the global lockdown, the normal life was adversely affected and the poor was hit hard.

Most of the corporations went online, establishing a work from home culture. Businesses were affected adversely. Even access to the primary health care was tough. On psychological level, it created panic among the people. It has been a challenging time for education. Millions of the students around the world left colleges, schools and educational institutions. There was a rise in online education. Numerous distant learning programmes came to the fore, reshaping the entire educational system.

The COVID-19 proved to be a global economic shock and pushed the economy into recession. It triggered the mass unemployment creating depression and anxiety among the unemployed youth. These youths are still in search of a better job.

It was the poor and the marginalized who suffered the most. The nation-wide lockdown put the poor at the risk of malnutrition. Factories were shut down and the workers were asked to go their homes. The poor had to face unimaginable hardships. Now with the onset of winter season it extremely tough for the poor to survive with no warm clothes and sufficient arrangement to protect themselves from the biting cold. Sometimes they have to spend nights out in cold with their bodies shivering.

It's a high time for individuals and organizations to come out and help the needy and the dispossessed. Every efforts count, no matter how small it may seem.

It is continuously encouraged in Islam to help the poor and the needy. Prophet Muhammad (blessings and peace of Allah be upon him) ordered us to do acts of charity and help the poor. Allah Almighty loves those who help the poor and the needy. According to the holy Qur'an giving charity out of our wealth does not decrease wealth rather it increases it. There is a hadith in which Prophet Muhammad (blessings and peace of Allah be upon him) said, 'He is not a believer whose stomach is filled while his neighbour goes hungry. In another hadith prophet Muhammad (blessings and peace of Allah be upon him) said, "Your smiling in the face of your brother is charity, commanding good and forbidding evil is charity, your giving directions to a man lost in the land is charity for you. Your seeing for a man with bad sight is a charity for you, your removal of a rock, a thorn or a bone from the road is charity for you. Your pouring what remains from your bucket into the bucket of your brother is charity for you.." (Jami` at-Tirmidhi 1956)
